Our Values

The TNT logo and distinctive orange colour have become trusted trademarks. TNT has earned its reputation as a market leader in Express transportation by working hard and being open, honest and transparent. We all carry the responsibility of upholding our good reputation. As part of this responsibility it is crucial that management is committed to ensure we remain a reputable company that is a leader in the market place.

Our Commitment

TNT Australia management has a strong commitment to our Business Principles and business plan, including the responsibility to ensure strict compliance in regard to all governing bodies and laws that surround TNT's business.

TNT Australia will comply with all applicable national, regional and international export control laws, sanctions and restrictive measures programmes and embargoes, such as regulations and rules that prohibit unauthorised trade in military and other strategic goods and services as well as financial or commercial dealings with denied individuals and entities.

TNT Australia will invest in adequate resources to maintain and continuously improve its compliance with Export Controls laws and regulations, nationally regionally and globally.

TNT Australia is therefore committed to implement and maintain an Export Control Management System (ECMS). The ECMS can be located http://expressnet.tnt.com/content/intranet/en_ho/site/home/functions/export_controls_ok/ecms.html or can be requested from the Country Focal Point (details below).

By doing this TNT Australia will offer a safe and compliant environment for its staff, customers and shareholders. Non compliance to Export Control laws and regulations could result in hefty penalties, reputational damage and prosecution.
